i love my teacher because free printable: Why Religion? Faten Sabri, This book intended to prove that the need for religion is greater than the need for food and drink. A person is by nature a religious person. If he does not find the true religion, he will then invent a religion for himself, similar to what happened with the pagan religions created by humankind. Human beings need security in this life, just as they need protection after death; the true religion gives its followers complete safety in this life and the Hereafter. In fact, there is no enlightenment, renaissance, progress, beauty, or true science except by embracing the religion of Islam. Islam has succeeded as a method, while capitalism and communism have failed. No orientalist has studied Islam and its civilization - whatever his stand from Islam is -did not admit that Islam is a Religion and a State. However, Muslims being away from their true religion and their inability to properly spread Islam's principles has contributed in recent decades to an increase in the number of atheists, sceptics, and perplexities in the world. People in the West advanced in science and knowledge when they abandoned the wrong beliefs based on the distorted religion they had, and adopted science and logic. Still, with their approach to science properly, they lost the values, morals, and purpose of their existence, by neglecting to embrace the correct religion. These points will be examined in details by narrating real-life conversations with personalities from different nationalities and cultures.
