medicare marketing and sales summit 2024: Beneficiaries Remain Vulnerable to Sales Agents' Marketing of Medicare Advantage Plans Daniel R. Levinson, United States. Department of Health and Human Services. Office of Inspector General, 2010 The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) contracts with private companies, known as plan sponsors, to provide health insurance plans under MA. Plan sponsors may market their MA plans through independent sales agents, who may market on their own or through a field marketing organization (FMO), or by employing their own sales agents. Between June 2007 and June 2008, Congress held three hearings examining sales agents' marketing of MA plans. During these hearings, witnesses testified that sales agents had marketed without licenses, portrayed themselves as Medicare employees, and misled Medicare beneficiaries about plan benefits. These types of aggressive, deceptive, and fraudulent marketing practices could result in Medicare beneficiaries enrolling in plans that do not meet their health care needs. Several members of Congress raised concerns about sales agents' marketing to Medicare beneficiaries to the Office of Inspector General (OIG); one specifically requested that OIG examine the marketing practices of MA plans.
