preschool graduation message from teacher: Lift Us Up, Don't Push Us Out! Mark R. Warren, David Goodman, 2018-08-21 Parents, young people, community organizers, and educators describe how they are fighting systemic racism in schools by building a new intersectional educational justice movement. Illuminating the struggles and triumphs of the emerging educational justice movement, this anthology tells the stories of how black and brown parents, students, educators, and their allies are fighting back against systemic inequities and the mistreatment of children of color in low-income communities. It offers a social justice alternative to the corporate reform movement that seeks to privatize public education through expanding charter schools and voucher programs. To address the systemic racism in our education system and in the broader society, the contributors argue that what is needed is a movement led by those most affected by injustice--students of color and their parents--that builds alliances across sectors and with other social justice movements addressing immigration, LGBTQ rights, labor rights, and the school-to-prison pipeline. Representing a diverse range of social justice organizations from across the US, including the Chicago Teachers Union and the Genders and Sexualities Alliance Network, the essayists recount their journeys to movement building and offer practical organizing strategies and community-based alternatives to traditional education reform and privatization schemes. Lift Us Up! will outrage, inform, and mobilize parents, educators, and concerned citizens about what is wrong in American schools today and how activists are fighting for and achieving change.

God..." Sherry Medellin, 2025-04-28 It seemed as though my search for the Lord took a lifetime of trials and tribulations without realizing that the whole time, He was there right next to me. From an early age, I was always rejected and portrayed as an outcast in society. I sincerely believed that I wouldn't amount to much in life and that my suffering would never see an end. Once I understood that it didn't matter what the world said, God said I was His and that He loved me when I couldn't find it within the depths of my soul to love myself. How could Jesus love me when I was rejected by the world? It was then that I realized He loved me just as I was, which led me to be free. His grace and mercy follow me all the days of my life.
