History of the Wood County Ohio Historical Society

The Wood County Ohio Historical Society was founded with the purpose of preserving the historical legacy of Wood County and its surrounding areas. Since its inception, the society has been committed to collecting artifacts, documents, photographs, and other materials that reflect the county's diverse history. Over the decades, it has grown into a respected institution known for its dedication to historical preservation and public education. The society's origins date back to the early 20th century, when local historians and community leaders recognized the need to protect the region's heritage from being lost or forgotten.

Founding and Early Development

The Wood County Ohio Historical Society was officially established in the early 1900s by a group of passionate individuals who sought to document and preserve Wood County's historical narratives. Initially operating with limited resources, the society focused on gathering oral histories, collecting pioneer artifacts, and archiving early county records. As membership and community support increased, the society expanded its scope and undertook more ambitious preservation projects.

Growth and Modernization

Throughout the 20th century, the society adapted to changing times by incorporating modern archival techniques and expanding its public programming. This included the development of a dedicated museum space and the introduction of exhibits highlighting various aspects of Wood County's history, such as agriculture, industry, and cultural heritage. Today, the Wood County Ohio Historical Society continues to evolve, utilizing digital technology and social media to reach wider audiences while maintaining its core mission of historical preservation.

Collections and Exhibits

wood county ohio historical society: Bowling Green Frederick N. Honneffer, 2004 The Great Black Swamp may have slowed the settlement of northwest Ohio, but it couldn't stop a little town south of Toledo called Bowling Green. It blossomed into an agricultural gold mine with natural gas and oil booms that prospered the modest Wood County seat late in the Nineteenth Century. Now as the home of internationally known Bowling Green State University, the National Championship Tractor Pulling Competition, and the Black Swamp Arts Festival, this formerly uninhabitable swamp continues to attract its fair share of attention. In this pictorial history you will learn how Bowling Green beat the odds to become the city everybody wants to revisit.

wood county ohio historical society: Some Descendants of John Thomas of Jamestown, Rhode Island Hollis A. Thomas, MD, 2013-01-24 In 1636, Roger Williams, recently banished from the Massachusetts Bay Colony because of his religious beliefs, established a settlement at the head of Narragansett Bay that he named "Providence." This small colony soon became a sanctuary for those seeking to escape religious persecution. Within a few years, a royal land patent and charter resulted in the formation of the "Colony of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations," which incorporated Williams' original settlement and espoused his tenets of freedom of religion and separation of church and state. During the ensuing decades, thousands of Baptists, Quakers, Jews, and Huguenots relocated to Rhode Island from other New England colonies, the British Islands, and Europe in search of religious freedom. One such individual, John Thomas, an immigrant from Wales, made significant contributions to early settlements at Jamestown on Conanicut Island and at Wickford on the nearby mainland of Rhode Island. He was the first town constable of Jamestown in 1679, and later owned hundreds of acres of land in the towns of North and South Kingstown. This fully indexed work traces and sketches the lives of his descendants, many of whom were at the forefront of the great American westward migration, and represents the most comprehensive compilation of them to date. It is the result of twenty years of extensive research and includes detailed information from military pension archives, will and estate records, agricultural data, county histories, and migration patterns that far exceeds the standard for genealogical works of this scope and magnitude. It is important for us to remember those who helped shape our nation. This work provides valuable information for those who are interested in this family and its evolution in America.

wood county ohio historical society: Ohio's Infirmary Buildings Holly Hartlerode Kirkendall, 2023 Ohio's Infirmary Buildings uses historic and documentary photography as a tool to examine the structures once used to house Ohio's poor. Ohio became a state in 1803, and it took 48 years to establish all 88 counties. On February 26, 1816, the Ohio General Assembly officially authorized boards of county commissioners to obtain farms that included housing for paupers (or the poor), and by 1874, each county in Ohio had what was originally called the poor farm. The former Wood County Infirmary story serves as an example of how superintendents and matrons managed people in need before modern programs helped designate specialized care. Collaboration with all 88 counties across the state of Ohio shows a unified story of public charity and highlights the importance of historic preservation. As early as 1937, Ohio counties began tearing down infirmaries, leaving behind few photographic records and institutional documentation--Page 4 of cover.
